Campeleon

„Campeleon - The Art of Camping“ is a founding project to enable the best travel experience CO₂-neutral. We offer our customers caravans and camper vans that can be designed individually. Our products are made for life that's why those can be adjusted according the customers needs over time. Sustainability is key in our DNA - Campeleon's products will not emit CO₂ during usage and are made of biogenic and recycled materials. We focus on our customers and integrate them into our development and research processes online and offline. For this journey, we are searching for further Campeleons to complete our young Campeleon family.
